The Articulate Attorney* Named Finalist in Foreword's 2013 Book of the Year Award

National magazine selects The Articulate Attorney: Public Speaking for Lawyers, Second Edition, in its search for the best indie books of 2013.

Phoenix, AZ, April 28, 2014 — The Articulate Attorney: Public Speaking for Lawyers, Second Edition is a finalist for the 2013 Book of the Year Awards in the Business/Economics and Career categories.

A panel of over 100 librarians and booksellers will determine the winners, who will be announced during the American Library Association Annual Conference in Las Vegas on Friday, June 27 at 6 p.m. Here is the complete list of Foreword Reviews' 2013 Book of the Year Award Finalists.

In the fully updated second edition of their groundbreaking book The Articulate Attorney: Public Speaking for Lawyers, Johnson and Hunter teach attorneys how to polish their presentation styles so they can effectively explain complicated issues to any audience imaginable, from clients to colleagues to boards of directors.

Hunter comments, “Speaking well is a teachable skill, using scientific principles from a range of studies. We constantly monitor cognitive, gestural, and linguistic research, sports psychology, and human factors. From the body to the brain to the voice, it often requires extensive nurturing to reveal a lawyer’s supposedly ‘natural’ speaking abilities. This new edition of The Articulate Attorney conveys the very best of what it takes to do exactly this.”

Johnson and Hunter also collaborated on The Articulate Advocate: New Techniques of Persuasion for Trial Lawyers, published by Crown King Books in 2009. That title won a Silver medal in IBPA’s Benjamin Franklin Awards in 2010, and a Glyph Award from Arizona Book Publishers for Best Business Book.
